

I have known Mark Baer for approximately 15 years. He had done legal work for my former employers, who were very happy with his representation. I retained Mark a number of years ago, when my husband and I were first going through a divorce. We reconciled and dismissed our divorce proceeding.

When my husband filed for divorce most recently, I again retained Mark to represent me. He was always available to guide me through the entire process effortlessly as well as with my best interest at heart. I had requested that Mark try and resolve my case as quickly and efficiently as possible. My husband was initially representing himself, which made the process cost more and take longer because of his lack of understanding and his refusal to do what was requested of him. Mark attempted to negotiate with my husband, but my husband refused to cooperate. As a result of my husband's behavior and the fact that we were trying to be reasonable, Mark was able to obtain a better result for me from the Judge than our settlement offer. Mark had warned my husband of that possibility, but my husband ignored him. After being "beaten up" enough by Mark, my husband decided to retain an attorney of his own. She was apparently able to explain the law to him and Mark was able to get our divorce wrapped up in approximately a year.

If you are thinking of representing yourself, DON'T DO IT, unless you understand every aspect of the law. Otherwise, you will short change yourself and your case will take longer to resolve.

If you need to go in front of a Judge, BE PREPARED. Trust me when I say that Mark will do that for you. I am very pleased with the outcome of my case. Mark made the painful process of divorce after 22 years of marriage more bearable. I would recommend Mark without any hesitation.

Thanks, Mark,

From one very happy Divorcee, D Daniels, Calabasas, CA
